

A Year on the Wye

A DVD tour of the River Wye.

Take a trip down the River Wye. Start early in the year in the Plynlimon Hills. Follow the Wye from Mid Wales to the borders between England and Wales. Finally, in Autumn, arrive at the mouth of the river, and the Severn Estuary.

At 185 miles long, the Wye is the fifth longest river in the UK. Its source is in the Plynlimon Hills in mid Wales. From there it flows to the border between England and Wales, and then never wanders far from that border. Indeed in several places the Wye itself marks that border.

The river Wye is a Site of Special Scientific Interest. And much of the valley below Hereford is an Area of Outstanding Beauty.

Along the way visit places such as:

Rhyader

Hereford

Elan Valley

Ross on Wye

Builth Wells

Symonds Yat

Hay on Wye

Monmouth

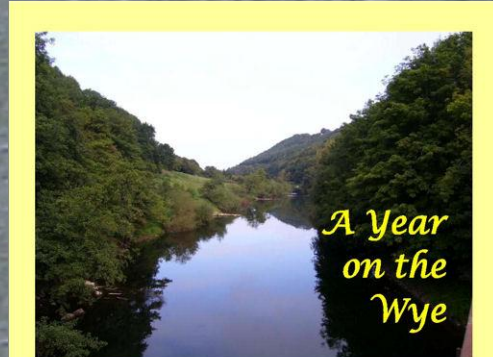

Hereford

Tintern

Ross on Wye

Chepstow ...

... and many, many more

From source to sea – a journey down the River Wye taken across the seasons in a single year.
